

- 1) For a website, what color scheme do you think is best design-wise?
Choose from 1 to 4 colors.

- a) Links
- b) Cover Page
- c) Headers

Answer 1: Grey/Red and Black/White and Blue, Simple, Standard, Doesn't destroy the eyes

- 2) In terms of website controls (buttons, search bar, etc.), what size is perfect for your experience (small, medium, large)?

Answer 2: Large buttons, as long as they're visible it's fine

- 3) Do you prefer your information to all be on one page, or would you like several pages dedicated to specific tasks? Why?

Answer 3: Separate Pages

- 4) What problems have you encountered before with websites that you've used, a list of these issues?

Answer 4: Too many colors (ugly), too simple, advert overload

- 5) Would you like a simplistic website with minimal features but easy to navigate and use, or a complex stylistic website with multiple features while being less easy to navigate?

Answer 5: Simple navigation

- 6) Would a help button, outlining 'how to use our website' help you navigate through the website and do you think it's necessary?

Answer 6: Depends on what the user needs help with exactly. Maybe an FAQ page would be nice

- 7) To get more specific. The time management tool. We know that the main aim of the tool is to help you, the user, with managing your time by allowing you to organize your schedule? What additional features would you like within this page/set of pages?
- a) Anything motivation wise? Rewards?
 - b) How about some tips and advice?
 - c) What do you require notification wise?

Answer 7: Mini game?, Rewards at the end of each task

- 8) Do you use any apps or websites to use for time management? What are they called and what features do they have?
- a) What are their pros and cons?

Answer 8: We don't use time management tools, but if we did, a simple, easy to use and straightforward time management tool would be good

- 9) We're thinking of adding questions before you, the user, logs in to the website, in order to calculate what your needs from the time management tool are? What sort of questions should we ask?

Answer 9: No questions

- 10) Would you like different types of timers?
- a) E.g. a timer that starts and stops at a certain time in one go, or a timer that starts and stops in regular intervals, giving your breaks in between/ time to review your work

Answer 10: Regular Timer, options/links for different types of learning (e.g. the cornell method)

- 11) Would you like videos for tips and advice on time management or just writing?

Answer 11: No videos, just text, small and concise, 2 sentences maybe, a quick vid only if you wish

- 12) Do you want the website we create to calculate your schedule times, do most of the work for you, or do you want a more independent hands-on approach?

Answer 12: Timers for different difficulties

- 13) Do you want more external time management resources for tips and advice, or more custom resources made by us?

Answer 13: Just two sentences, any resources but custom ones are preferred